

MANUFACTURING / PROCESS DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATE, CELL CULTURE

HEPREGEN CORPORATION (Medford, Massachusetts)

Hepregen Corporation (200 Boston Ave, Suite 1500, Medford, MA 02155, www.hepregen.com) is a venture-backed startup out of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology focused on commercializing a portfolio of liver tissue engineering technologies. Hepregen's mission is to provide innovative bioengineering solutions to the biotech and pharmaceutical industries in order to improve the success and economics of drug development. Its first product platform (HepatoPac™) is a micro-liver platform for advanced toxicity screening and drug discovery.

Primary Responsibilities / Reporting Requirements: Assist in manufacturing of human and mammalian cell culture products, including seeding and maintaining cell cultures, micro-fabrication polymer casting, media preparation, cell based assays/tests, sample collection and general laboratory and equipment maintenance. Document production and inventory control activities. Utilize aseptic technique conducting cell culture process steps in biological safety cabinets. Troubleshoot process problems. Perform process optimization and product development experiments. The position is open for a daytime shift, but a flexible work schedule is required to meet project/production demands. This position reports directly to the Manager MFG/PD, but also coordinates and interacts throughout the organization.

Degree Requirement / Prior Experience: Associate or Bachelors degree in a scientific or engineering discipline. Prior laboratory experience working with mammalian cell cultures is desirable.

Key Personality Traits: Goal-oriented, highly motivated, strong work ethic, can troubleshoot problems with a "hands-on" approach, willing to learn new concepts/techniques, and can communicate results effectively in an interdisciplinary team.

Compensation: Hepregen offers competitive pay, a high growth environment, and a benefits package that includes stock options as well as participation in health and dental plans; 401(k) retirement plan; life insurance; and disability coverage.
